

Research on China

A multi-disciplinary graduate student conference October 28 and 29, 2015

To mark the 45th anniversary of diplomatic relations between Canada and the People's Republic of China, Carleton University will hold a Conference on academic research relating to China.

This conference offers graduate students broadly interested in the study of China an opportunity to gather in the nation's capital, present and receive feedback on their research from a scholarly audience, and engage in professional development and networking.

The conference is intended for PhD and advanced MA students who share an interest in Chinese studies from the following disciplines: Political Science, Economics, Sociology, International Relations or Business. Proposals from other social science disciplines will also be considered.

Students whose papers are accepted will be expected to participate in all of the conference activities and submit their final papers no later than 10 days prior to the beginning of the conference. Each presenter will have approximately 12 minutes to present his or her paper. The maximum length for a paper is 8000 words. There is no conference registration fee. Limited financial support is available towards transportation and accommodation costs of presenters.
